

RETURN OF THE VIKINGS

LOGIC PROBLEM

In the street called Pewtergate in the historic city of Pastborough is the famous Viking Centre, built on part of the actual Viking settlement that existed there until the 11th century – to which some of the Vikings have now returned! Well, not exactly – but the Centre has taken on a number of craftsmen to demonstrate the way in which various items were produced, and – to make it more dramatic – the men adopt Viking costumes and names when they're 'on duty'. From the clues below, can you work out the full name of each of the five currently employed there, his craft and his Viking name?

Clues

1 The weaver, who produces an authentic copy of the heavy woollen cloth made by the original Vikings, uses the name 'Siggrigg' while demonstrating his craft to visitors.

2 Mr Ryder, who isn't Ken, is a stonecarver; he doesn't use the Viking name 'Thorold'.

3 Mr Shaw, known to visitors to the Viking Centre as 'Eymund', does not produce woodcarvings.

4 Alan Platt wasn't trained as a weaver; Mr O'Haney, who hails from that other former Viking settlement of Dublin, isn't the man who makes footwear, cloaks, jerkins and ornamental items out of leather.

5 Harvey is the blacksmith, and, before becoming a 'Viking', was a 'medieval' smith at another Yorkshire tourist attraction.

6 Chris, alias 'Harald', doesn't work in wood or stone.

	O'Haney	Platt	Ryder	Shaw	Woods	Blacksmith	Leatherworker	Stonecarver	Weaver	Woodcarver	'Beorn'	'Eymund'	'Harald'	'Siggrigg'	'Thorold'
Alan
Chris
Harvey
Ken
Mickey
'Beorn'
'Eymund'
'Harald'
'Siggrigg'
'Thorold'
Blacksmith
Leatherworker
Stonecarver
Weaver
Woodcarver

First name	Surname	Craft	Viking name

Solution on the next page

For all your favorite puzzles go to PennyDellPuzzles.com

How to Solve England's Best Logic Puzzles

Solving Logic Puzzles is entertaining and challenging. All the information you need to solve a Logic Puzzle is given in the introduction and clues, and in illustrations, when provided.

Most Logic Puzzles come with solving charts, which let you make deductions and eliminations. In solving charts, you can use a "•" to signify "Yes" and an "X" to signify "No."

In some puzzles, it may be necessary to make a logical guess based on facts you've established. When you do, always look for clues or other facts that disprove it. If you find that your guess is incorrect, eliminate it as a possibility.

The solution for each puzzle is provided and contains an explanation of the puzzle, as well as a summary of the answer.

For a fuller explanation of how to solve Logic Puzzles, as well as a useful glossary of British terms, visit the Puzzler's Corner section of our website at PennyDellPuzzles.com.

Welcome to the world of Logic Puzzles, where many hours of puzzle pleasure await you!

Caution: The solution is included at the bottom of the page.

LOGIC PROBLEM SOLUTION

Harvey's the blacksmith (clue 5). Chris, alias 'Harald', doesn't work in stone or wood (clue 6), and the weaver's Viking name is 'Siggtrigg' (clue 1), so Chris must be the leatherworker. Alan's surname is Platt (clue 4). Mr Ryder is the stonecarver (clue 2), so can't be Harvey or Chris, nor is he Ken (clue 2), so he must be Mickey. We know that his Viking name isn't 'Siggtrigg' or 'Harald', nor is it 'Thorold' (clue 2) or 'Eymund', which is Mr Shaw's Viking name (clue 3), so Mickey Ryder must be 'Beorn'. As 'Eymund' isn't the woodcarver (clue 3), he must be the blacksmith, so Mr Shaw's real forename is Harvey. By elimination, the woodcarver must be 'Thorold'. Mr O'Haney isn't the leatherworker (clue 4), so his forename isn't Chris, and he must be Ken, leaving Chris' surname as Woods. Finally, since Alan Platt wasn't trained as a weaver (clue 4), he must be the woodcarver, alias 'Thorold', leaving Ken O'Haney as the weaver, 'Siggtrigg'.

In summary:

Alan Platt, woodcarver, 'Thorold'.

Chris Woods, leatherworker, 'Harald'.

Harvey Shaw, blacksmith, 'Eymund'.

Ken O'Haney, weaver, 'Siggtrigg'.

Mickey Ryder, stonecarver, 'Beorn'.

For all your favorite puzzles go to PennyDellPuzzles.com

Copyright © 2014 Penny Press, Inc.

Published by arrangement with British European Associated Publishers, Ltd. Copyright © BEAP Ltd.