

SYLLABLE SAYING

The words that fit the definitions can be formed by putting together the appropriate syllables from the list. Cross off each one as you use it, as each is used only once; no syllables will be left over when the puzzle is completed. The number in parentheses will tell you how many syllables you need for each word. The number of dashes will tell you how many letters there are in each word. If done correctly, you will discover a thought by reading down (in order) the first letters and then the last letters of the words you have formed.
